Digit Community, assemble!

For a trip down memory lane like no other...

Over the last couple of months, we asked you to send us your memories of Digit, what this magazine, your friendly neighbourhood tech navigator, means to you. And you folks didn't disappoint. Compiling these responses had us teary-eyed and nostalgic at the same time. It also gave the current team awesome insights into what Digit means for its community. Without your love and support, we wouldn't have reached this milestone. Thank you!

Here are just a few of the responses shared with us over the past couple months.

SCAN QR CODE TO SUBMIT YOUR RESPONSE TO BE PUBLISHED HERE NEXT MONTH!

1) Good and informative

I am a new reader, and what struck me first is simply how good and how informative it is. Everything I have read so far has told me something I did not know before, and it manages that without making me feel like I need a technical background to follow along. As someone who is only just starting to find her way around technology, that matters a great deal more than I expected it to. All the very best for your journey ahead — I am looking forward to reading along for a long time to come.

– Shibina George, Kerala

2) Gadgets and small programs

What I have always come to Digit for is the gadgets and the small programs. The gadget coverage told me what was worth buying and what was not, in plain language, before I spent my money on it. And the small programs — the little utilities and tools you would point readers towards — were the ones that actually ended up on my machine and stayed there. They were never the flashy launches, just genuinely useful things I would not have come across on my own. That combination is what kept me reading.

– Deepak Bhawana, Gurgaon