SNEAK PEEK

Nike and Comme des Garçons Homme Plus have come together to rework the Air Jordan 11 for FW 2026 in black and white, keeping the signature patent leather integrated into the design. For this first ever Air Jordan 11 collaboration is marked by embossed logos imprinted on the leather, while the tongue carries "Homme Plus" in the original Jordan 11 typeface. The campaign pairs the sneakers with Rei Kawakubo's architectural tailoring; here's where form meets function.
price on request; commedesgaarcons.com

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HIGH

Since its 2018 debut, Tom Ford's Ombré Leather has worn the rugged spirit of the American West. This year's Ombré Leather Reserve is a 2026 Eau de Parfum that opens with cypress, juniper and black pepper, and holds a heart of green accord, florals and vetiver. The base settles into black leather and benzoin, settling into a warm, resinous finish. Earlier flankers tweaked the formula; Reserve redraws the landscape entirely.
price ₹16,100; tomford.com

RIDING HIGH AT 60

Celebrating six decades of Polo in Tokyo, Ralph Lauren debuts Polofest, the first in a series of global gatherings ahead of the brand's 60th anniversary in 2027 in Jing Harajuku. The celebration hosts an archival exhibition, a vintage marketplace plus one-of-a-kind upcycled Polo pieces reworked by local artisans.
ralphlauren.global

REMASTERING THE MASTER COLLECTION

The Chrono Monopusher from the Master Collection by Longines is a manually-wound timepiece with a sapphire caseback, concave bezel, and a stamped barleycorn guilloché design. It's available in two variations: frosted blue and silver opaline.
price ₹3.88 lakh; longines.com ■

