REBRANDING SAFARIS

1 THE SUJÁN LIFE

For this couple, a luxury safari camp is far more than a wilderness retreat; it is a vital part of forest conservation. At Sher Bagh, Jaisal and Anjali Singh's pioneering tented camp bordering Ranthambhore, and SUJÁN Jawai, nestled within the dramatic granite hills of Pali, conservation is the foundational purpose, not a mere marketing footnote. By seamlessly marrying raw wilderness with sophisticated glamour, the duo has created a highly coveted, sustainable travel blueprint that inspires conservation tourism globally.

KINGDOM OF KHAJURAHO

2 THE OBEROI RAJGARH PALACE

Nestled atop the forested slopes of the Maniyagarh Hills, The Oberoi Rajgarh Palace is a breathtaking revival of a 350-year-old Bundela fortress. Originally built by Maharaja Hindu Pat, it opened its doors to travellers late last year. Sprawling across a 76-acre estate complete with its own private lake, this 65-room sanctuary acts as a royal gateway balanced between the wild expanses of Panna Tiger Reserve and the timeless Khajuraho temples. Celebrated as the only Indian property to make this year's prestigious Prix Versailles list of the world's most beautiful hotels, it offers an ultimate masterclass in heritage luxury.
