

COLOMBIAN COMFORT

7 EL CHATO, BOGOTÁ

Recognised as Latin America's best by The 50 Best Restaurants, El Chato distinguishes itself through a commitment to local producers and the use of fresh, regional ingredients. Helmed by Chef Álvaro Clavijo, who gained his culinary expertise from the Hofmann School of Hospitality in Barcelona and Le Cordon Bleu in Paris, it boasts of an evolving menu based on seasonality, exploration, and culinary research. elchato.co

CHEF'S TABLE

8 PAPA'S, MUMBAI

Since its 2024 opening, Papa's has been one of the most coveted spots not just in Mumbai but among India's most avid gastronomes. Chef Hussain Shahzad's 12-seater continues to be sold out as soon as bookings open at the beginning of every month. Located directly above sister restaurant Veronica's—both are part of Hunger Inc. Hospitality—a grungy stairway leads one to the cosy, nostalgic world of a 1980s' Mumbai home in Bandra. Papa's reimagines the essence of fine dining, breaking free from its traditional formality. papasbombay.com

K-CUISINE

9 META, SINGAPORE

Short for metamorphosis, Meta in Singapore is rooted in Korean cuisine, and reflects the journey of its founder Chef Sun Kim, who hails from Busan, South Korea. The menu draws from his heritage and combines his flair for refined modern cooking with the country's traditions. Here, bold flavours marry minimalist plating with panache. The single tasting menu is dominated by seafood and vegetables. Along with wine pairing, it also keenly showcases non-alcoholic Korean drink flights. metarestaurant.sg

PERUVIAN POTPOURRI

10 CENTRAL, LIMA

In less than two decades of its opening, Lima's Central Restaurant was declared the best by the World's 50 Best Restaurants. Led and co-owned by spouses and chefs Virgilio Martínez and Pía León, it made history as the first eatery in Latin America to claim this top spot. Central's fine-dining menu showcases Peru's unique biodiversity by taking diners through 15 different Peruvian ecosystems, categorised by altitude—from 15 metres under the Pacific to 4,200 metres up in the Andes. centralrestaurante.com.pe ■
