

1 BEHOLD THE ALPHA

Alfa Romeo is ushering in a new era with a gorgeous GT concept. Unveiled at the 2026 Paris Motor Show, the Cuorerosso is a striking concept that previews the Italian automaker's future design language, also offering a glimpse at how they could approach performance in today's increasingly electrified automotive world. It's pitched to be developed as a "multi-energy" four-door performance car that could eventually be adapted to hybrid, plug-in hybrid, or even fully electric powertrains. But for now, the Cuorerosso, comes with the brand's iconic twin-turbocharged 2.9-litre V6.

BMW 7 SERIES

2 A FASCINATING FACELIFT

With every upgrade, the 7 series increasingly resembles a Rolls Royce. On the launch of its mid-life facelift, automotive aficionados were enthralled by both the car and its brand ambassador, Ranveer Singh. The sleek sedan is a stonker to drive, featuring updated interiors with the Panoramic iDrive upfront, an evolved theatre experience at the back, exterior styling revisions, as well as updates to the petrol, diesel, and its electric powertrains.
