PORSCHE CAYENNE ELECTRIC

6 ELECTIFIED POWER

Porsche is expanding its EV portfolio in India with an all-electric version of one of its most established icons. The Cayenne Electric brings the expected characteristics of an electric powertrain to the range, while retaining the performance, versatility, and usability associated with it. The new model is available in two variants—the standard Cayenne Electric and the higher-performance Cayenne Turbo Electric—with prices starting at Rs 1.77 crore. But fret not, petrolheads. Porsche will continue to offer internal combustion engines well into the next decade.

VOLVO EX90

7 SWEDISH SUAVE

In this world of luxury plagued with excesses, Volvo is the calm, safe, and peaceful name many desire. Enter: the new Volvo EX90. Beautiful in form, its Swedish aesthetic is attracting more and more Indians by the day — though it's the promise of safety that earns the flagship SUV from Volvo a spot on the hot list. There's another plus: this SUV is electric and can match any other premium SUV in performance and capability.

SUZUKI HAYABUSA

8 THE ULTIMATE SPORTBIKE

The fastest superbike in production for years on end, the Suzuki Hayabusa is difficult to push off any hot list. Not only is this legend the most coveted, it's also the bike spotted on most posters up on the walls of teenage boys. Now, with a dazzling new livery but the same old 1300cc engine and limited top speed of 300kmph, this sportbike has managed to steal the spotlight yet again.