A RARE POUR

1 OLD RIP VAN WINKLE

Distilled in 1989 at the now closed Van Winkle family distillery in Shively, Kentucky, Old Rip Van Winkle, a 25-year-old whiskey was launched in 2017, and is one of the world's most sought-after whiskies. It was aged there until 2002, when it moved to Buffalo Trace Distillery following their acquisition of the label, and remained in its original casks until 2014 before being transferred to stainless steel tanks to prevent further ageing. With only 11 barrels distilled, yielding just 710 bottles, each bottle was presented in a handmade glass decanter and packaged in wood crafted from the original oak barrels.

LIMITED EDITION

2 PLANTERAY CLARENDON SPECIAL EDITION SINGLE CASK

The Planteray Clarendon Special Edition Single Cask 1984 rum seems to set the tone for being among the great sipping rums. This 40-year-old Jamaican drink offers an impressive combination of tropical fruit, vanilla, coconut, spice and subtle smoky notes. Aged for 35 years in Jamaica and another five years in France, with only 317 numbered bottles from a single cask.

SECOND COMING

3 LOUIS XIII RARE CASK 42.6

The second edition of the prestigious LOUIS XIII Rare Cask collection, this exceptionally limited cognac was launched in 2013. The LOUIS XIII Rare Cask 42.6 had just 738 individually numbered Baccarat crystal decanters produced at 42.6% ABV. This liquid gold reveals an exquisite tapestry of rich plum, dates, prune and gingerbread, layered with warm ginger and a delicate touch of tobacco leaf.
