APPLE DUO

1 THE POWER OF DEUX

Apple has finally entered the foldable space with its iPhone Duo. It marks the brand's most radical hardware shift since the launch of the first iPhone in 2007. At Apple's highest ever pricing for the iPhone, the Duo opens from a compact phone into a nearly 7.6-inch inner display—Apple's largest ever—powered by the new A20 Pro chip and titanium construction for a virtually crease-free fold. A smartphone doubling as a pocket tablet, the Duo enters the ultra-premium category with Split View multitasking, Apple Pencil support and iOS 27 built around the dual-screen format.

price ₹2.99 lakh (256 GB); apple.com

DREAME X60 ULTRA COMPLETE

2 A ROBOTIC HOUSEKEEPER

This robot vacuum, which is built like a lab instrument, is the quietly obsessive housekeeper you didn't know you needed. Dual AI cameras and structured light in Dreame's X60 Ultra Complete recognise over 280 types of objects down to as small as 10mm, while a retractable sensor lowers VersaLift navigation into tight corners that others could miss. Suction peaks at 35,000Pa, and dual mop pads heat to 40°C with 15N of downforce for ground-in stains. Its dock scrubs itself with 100°C water, auto-refills detergent, and empties dust. And it's only 7.95cm slim!

price ₹2,69,998; in.dreametech.com

VAULTFY

3 A LUXURY AI BUTLER

Launched just last month, Vaultfy is an AI concierge built for founders and executives that consolidates all luxury travel bookings under one subscription. Alfred, its assistant, takes requests by chat or voice note and arranges private jets, yachts, Michelin-level dining and luxury stays, cutting out brokers and other such services. Founder Vatsal Desai has confirmed the platform is in due diligence talks with two major banks for partnership. Currently testing with roughly 300 users, Vaultfy is unproven at scale but one of the more credibly sourced AI-concierge startups to watch this year.

price on request; thevaultfy.com

