

OURA RING 5

4 EXUDING 'OURA'

Now the world's smallest smart ring, the titanium Oura Ring 5 is 40% more compact than its predecessor yet tracks over 50 health metrics through a single, near-invisible band. New Health Radar software adds proactive blood pressure signals and nighttime breathing alerts, with a robust battery life that stretches to a week. Starting at $399, the ring distills sleep, recovery, and stress data into calm, personalised insight, wellness technology engineered to disappear into everyday life.

price ₹57,999.00; marketplace.mainstreet.co.in

BANG & OLUFSEN BEOPLAY H100

6 FOR SOUND THAT'S BANG ON

For the price tag it comes with, Bang & Olufsen's latest flagship over-ears come with a plethora of features. The classic B&O design blends premium materials like leather-covered housings with custom titanium drivers that deliver unparalleled sound and excellent active noise-canceling (ANC) technology. Tactile controls help adjust the volume via haptic dials. It also comes with a battery, drivers, and cushions that you can replace yourself over time.

price ₹1,68,000; bang-olufsen.com

SAVANT AI HOME AUTOMATION

5 THE SMART HOME SAVANT

Savant has long been the whole-home automation platform of choice for architects and luxury integrators. It unifies lighting, music, video, and climate control under one system, and then layers in energy management that keeps a home running through a grid outage. Its newer AI engine understands natural-language voice commands through Siri and Siri Shortcuts, letting one phrase dim the lights, start a playlist, and launch Apple TV together. Physical and location triggers—an NFC tag, an AirTag, and a geofence—can fire the same scenes. Savant calls it the first complete automation platform built natively on Apple's ecosystem.

price on request; savant.com

