THE BEST LESSONS I LEARNT

INDRA NOOYI
Former Chairperson and CEO, PepsiCo, Batch of 1976

"IIM Calcutta was transformative for me. In those two years, I learned to hold my own in a room full of men, collaborate under tight deadlines and translate classroom concepts into real-world solutions. I also discovered the confidence to navigate life beyond my family's embrace. IIM-C became my stepping stone to Yale and a career in the US. I will forever be grateful for its impact on my journey."

"The most important thing that IIM Calcutta taught me was to value craftsmanship. It taught me to work with my own hands, not repeat what others call the "right way" to do things. This was different from what other B-schools did (and do even today) of learning from case studies. This meant a drive to write computer code with my own hands, build businesses on my own, think independently and not slavishly follow trends."

tion and management development programmes. The institute is known for its strengths in finance, consulting, analytics, strategy and general management, alongside its strong industry connections and international academic partnerships.

IIM Calcutta holds the three major international business-school accreditations—AACSB (Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business International), EQUIS and AMBA (Association of MBAs)—and is a member of CEMS, the Global Alliance in Management Education. In the National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF) 2025, it was ranked seventh in the management category.

With the rise of emerging technologies, IIM-C has courses in Artificial Intelligence, Cyber Security, Machine Learning, Design Thinking and Industry 4.0 and their respective applications in management, integrating intelligent digital technologies into manufacturing and industrial processes.

"At IIM Calcutta, 'we leave no one behind' is a way of life. Seniors guided me through placements, and peers supported me through various challenges, reinforcing the power of collective effort"

The institute recorded a milestone in its 2025-26 final placement season, with four to five students reportedly securing annual compensation packages of Rs 1.45 crore each—the highest ever recorded by the institute. The mean annual package for the corresponding placement season stood at Rs 36 lakh, also an all-time high. Its latest summer placement process for the 2026-27 batch concluded one day ahead of its scheduled closing date, reflecting an overwhelming response from recruiters.

Over the next few years, IIM Calcutta is pushing forward with a major, Rs 500 crore green campus expansion, including new academic blocks, a food court and utility infrastructure.

With a distinguished alumni network spanning corporate leadership, financial services, consulting, entrepreneurship and public life, IIM Calcutta remains a powerhouse in Indian management education, combining academic rigour, industry engagement and global exposure. ■
