[3] The 0 vector is the vector whose components are all zero. The vector |0>, on the other hand, is a state-vector with nonzero components.