Sadly, it will be a miracle if the media ever gives the Yatra its full due. However, those who participated in it, those who endorsed it and those who conversed with anyone who participated in it will all begin speaking of politics and public life in a different accent, an accent that is far removed from division, scorn and hatred. A new climate of opinion has been created, and I find a renewed interest in keeping democracy and India's federal structure and diversity alive. I have no hesitation in saying that the Yatra has turned a completely new page in India's political life, a page that will continue the story of the freedom struggle and carry it forward to its expected completion in times to come. Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi had achieved that effect once. We are fortunate that what he did was repeated (albeit in a much different form) before the world's eyes.

---

1 'Ashamed of BJP Getting Involved in "Sale-Purchase" of MLAs: Shanta', The Indian Express, 27 February 2024, https://indianexpress.com/article/india/ashamed-of-bjp-7206584/

2 Dhirendra K. Jha, 'Guruji's Lie', The Caravan, 1 August 2021, https://caravanmagazine.in/history/rss-golwalkar-links-nazism

3 A.K. Bhattacharya and Paranjoy Guha Thakurta, 'Contours of Crony Capitalism in the Modi Raj', in Angana P. Chatterji, Thomas Blom Hansen and Christophe Jaffrelot (eds), Majoritarian State: How Hindu Nationalism Is Changing India, Oxford Academic, 2019, online edition, 20 February 2020, https://doi.org/10.1093/oso/9780190078171.003.0011

4 Nikhil Inamdar, 'How Narendra Modi Has Almost Killed the Indian Media', Quartz, 12 March 2019, https://qz.com/india/1570899/how-narendra-modi-has-almost-killed-indian-media

5 Shivam Vij, 'What We Don't Know about the BJP Election Machine', The Print, 23 September 2020, https://theprint.in/opinion/what-we-dont-know-about-bjp-election-machine/509013/