THE INTELLIGENCE COMMUNITY

The NSA and CIA are members of the US Intelligence Community (IC). The IC is made up of 17 organizations that operate separately but have a common goal: to collect information affecting national security and share it with policymakers. Other member organizations include:

- Defense Intelligence Agency
- Department of Energy
- Department of Homeland Security
- Department of State
- Department of the Treasury
- Drug Enforcement Administration
- Federal Bureau of Investigation
- National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency
- National Reconnaissance Office
- Office of the Director of National Intelligence
- US Air Force
- US Army
- US Coast Guard
- US Marine Corps
- US Navy

Poitras filmed many of their conversations and edited them into a 12.5-minute video. The Guardian posted the video on its website, along with the article about Snowden, on June 9, 2013.

With the release of Snowden's identity came a media frenzy of reporters to Hong Kong, trying to locate the whistle-blower. The meetings with Snowden had to end, or he risked being found and arrested. Snowden left his hotel and went into hiding somewhere in Hong Kong. Poitras and Greenwald left for home. None of their lives would ever be the same.
