of criminal activity. He also discovered the use of computer viruses and stolen foreign secrets in cyberattacks. It was a discovery that would set him on a path toward upsetting his comfortable life.

MonsterMind

Working at Booz Allen Hamilton, Snowden became familiar with the Mission Data Repository (MDR), an NSA information storage facility in Bluffdale, Utah. The 1-million-square-foot (93,000 sq m) building holds a yottabyte of data—approximately 500 quintillion pages of text.[6] Every hour, billions of e-mails, phone calls, text messages, and data transfers are routed through the
