
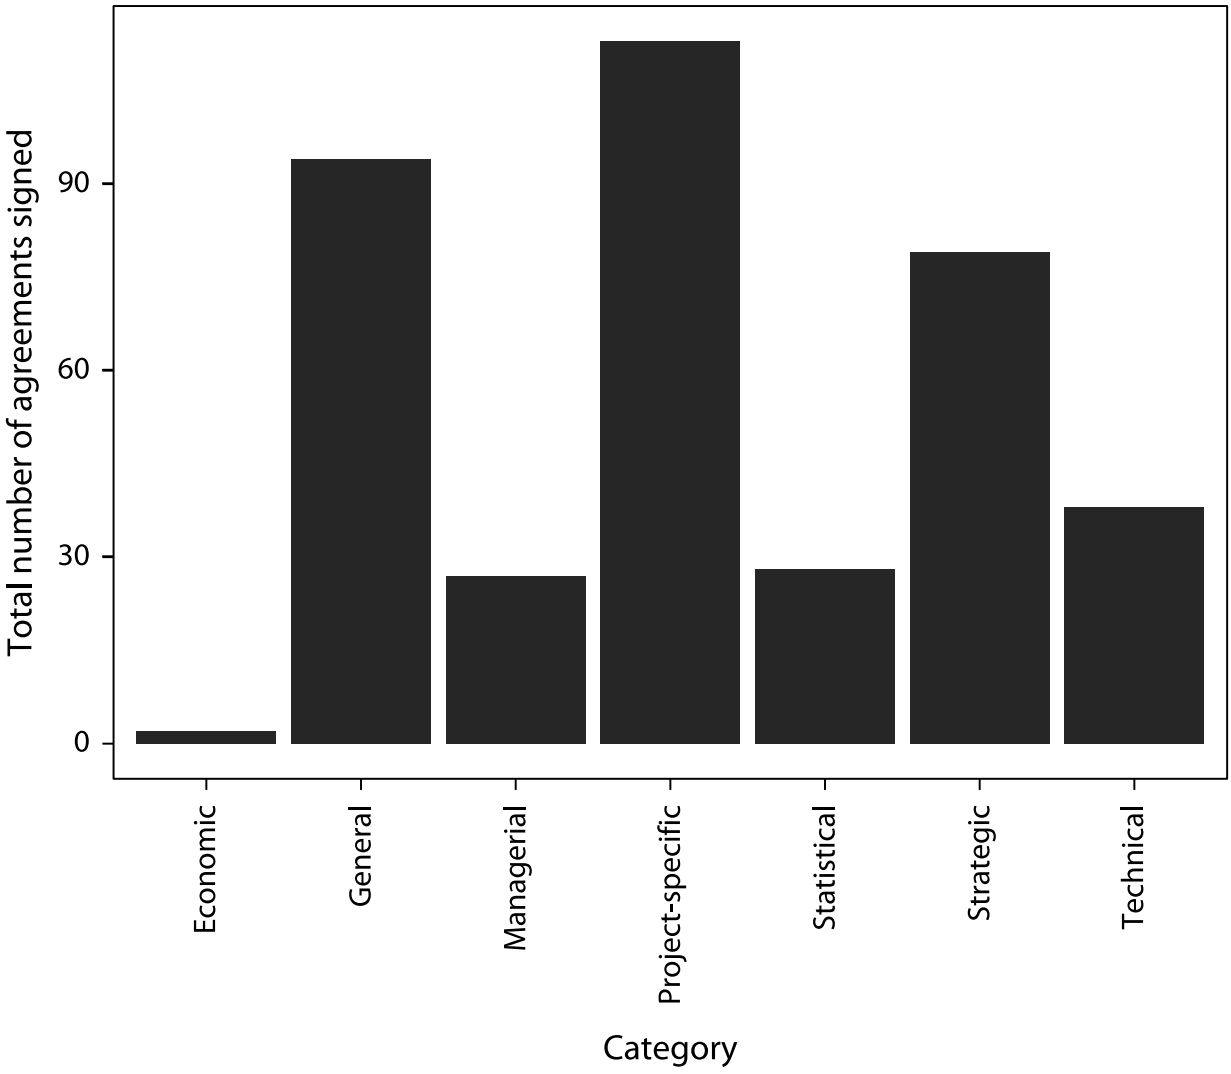

FIGURE 4.2. Total number of information-sharing agreements signed by information category. These data reflect all information-sharing agreements signed by dyads of development banks between 1956 and 2018.

"Economic" agreements involve the sharing of economic statistics; "General" agreements speak broadly (and often vaguely) about improving cooperation and information sharing; "Managerial" agreements mention sharing information about best practices and administration; "Project specific" agreements discuss the transmission of information related to co-financing operations; "Statistical" agreements specifically mention the sharing of country statistics; "Strategies" correspond to information about assistance strategies and development plans; and "Technical" agreements discuss the sharing of knowledge about policies, research, and expertise.