The entire high-stakes sequence explodes when Black Panther enters the fray, Denlinger says. "We had been going for quite a while before the bomb dropped that we were gonna introduce Panther in the film. I was thrilled that I would get a shot at T'Challa's first appearance in costume. I knew that the majority of the fight would be ultimately handled by the amazing stunt crew lead by Sam Hargrave and James Young, so I focused on making his intro shot as dynamic as possible. I also wanted to quickly get across some important story points regarding Panther and his Vibranium-enhanced costume. Conceived to be as indestructible as Cap's shield, it would allow T'Challa to be aggressive and bold with his technique with little fear of injury. He could hold onto the bumper of an SUV and ski behind it during a high-speed chase or walk through mini-gun helicopter fire. Additionally, one of the most important qualities of Vibranium is its ability to absorb kinetic energy. This would allow Panther to stand strong against a devastating metal-arm punch from the Winter Soldier."

