

In addition to his exploration of Hawkeye's arsenal, Nizzi crafted a few unique moments as early options for action beats. "[Head of Visual Development] Ryan Meinerding asked me to come up with some ideas for cool ways Hawkeye could fight or unique gadgets he could use," Nizzi says. "One of the most entertaining things about Marvel movies is how fun the fight scenes are. So I tried to think of moments or gear that would be entertaining, funny, or unexpected."

Josh Nizzi concept art.