Another impressive set crafted by Heinrichs and crew, the Operation Rebirth Lab was a favorite of many of the actors. Said Leander Deeney, the visual-effects body double for scrawny Steve Rogers, "The set was brilliant. The way the design had been achieved of making it look like a kind of beautiful retro design. There's this very weird shade of green on everything. Everything was just brilliant, completely brilliant."

Computer-generated set by Paul Castling.