CAPTAIN AMERICA'S SHIELD

Captain America's uniform may be an important part of his presence, but any comic-book fan will tell you it's the shield that makes the man. Cap's weapon of choice, used both offensively and defensively, is arguably the film's most important prop. Said Prop Master Barry Gibbs, "The team that worked with me took the initial designs that came back from 1942, and we extended them. We adapted it to modern times. Effectually, it went from a very plain shield to something that's kind of a little bit more high-tech."
