

HYDRA MINI TANK

"The Mini Tank came into the script very late," Simon said. "When I got the task to design it, the production in England had already purchased a JCB tractor as the base. So I researched the dimensions and doodled three variations over that package, based on Joe Johnston's briefing. My final illustrations show some color, especially a bold red stripe, suggesting Hydra doesn't bother hiding."