After Meinerding designed the Skull's namesake, it was up to Wen to figure out the remainder of the twisted villain. Said Wen, "I was designing the rest of him, and I was looking at Nazi leaders. I was looking at the feel of some of the guys that were surrounding Hitler while trying to use some of the colors that Hitler had."

Production stills.