Said Richard Armitage, the actor who played Hydra agent Heinz Kruger, "Well, Hydra is sort of the experimental-weapons defense branch of the Nazi regime. So it's kind of top secret. I think most of the operatives will be working on a need-to-know basis. It's about experimental weapons, and that's something which opens a great line of research when you're really looking for the truth that this would have been based on. There was an arm of the Nazi party who were experimenting with really kind of revolutionary weapons and defense mechanisms."

Concept art by Ryan Meinerding.

Concept art by Charlie Wen.