"Cutting the animatic for this scene was a unique challenge because it ultimately became a mix of storyboards, previs, and stunt footage that needed to feel like a cohesive whole," D'Alessandro adds. "Stitching together different pieces of music to create a unifying soundtrack became key to infusing the scene with excitement and maintaining a sense of flow."

