

"We wanted to make the Falcon one of the coolest, coolest, coolest characters we've ever had," says Victoria Alonso, Executive Producer and EVP of VFX and Post-Production. "You believe that he can fly—but he doesn't feel like a butterfly, he doesn't feel like a bird, he doesn't feel like a crow. We went through a ton of R&D to get to a place where the wings are balanced in strength and where you believe that this particular human can fly, which is the hardest thing to actually put on the screen."
