Costume Illustrator Christian Cordella, who comes from a family of fashion designers in Italy, worked in collaboration with Costume Designer Judianna Makovsky. Designing Rumlow's S.T.R.I.K.E. suit took him more than four months. "We wanted to create the Marvel SWAT suit, not just something you can buy off the rack," he says. "And so there were different ideas and options to see how many pockets worked best–less pockets, more pockets. Because Rumlow wears parachute gear on top, the concept was to keep it as sleek and functional as possible. After so long, I think I know enough about SWAT suits to be able to do a line of them."
