

One bit of Meinerding keyframe art (left) imagined Stark's trusted pal Col. Jim Rhodes witnessing the suit up and uttering the memorable line, "That's the coolest thing I've ever seen."

Another dimension of the Suit Up Gantry was to establish it as a believable part of the environment of the Workshop. To do that, Saunders figured it would be effective to create a room set aside solely for the gantry.

Below: Workshop keyframe art (Phil Saunders)

