

Above: Final Suit Up Gantry keyframe art (Ryan Meinerding)

Right: Suit Up Gantry movie still

After the long process the designers undertook to finalize Iron Man's suit up methodology, the actual filming took place during reshoots.

MEINERDING: "We wanted to set up a comical pose where, after coming back from the battle in Gulmira, he's stuck in the suit gantry and looking very awkward. The final shot ended up with his posture somewhat different than it was in the keyframe art, but the humorous tone remained the same."

