

The dogfight scene puts Iron Man in the middle of a bunch of high-concept effects scenarios: breaking the sound barrier, deploying chaff to evade incoming missiles, taking fire from fifty-caliber machine guns, colliding with the wing of an F-22 and rescuing a pilot whose chute won't open. If you think Iron Man had his hands full, try being John Nelson.