Jarvis' holographic keyboard designs (right, below) were replete with exotic symbols and undefined characters. Meinerding adapted keyboard characters from sources as diverse as Mayan mythology and electrical engineering figures, and also made some up out of whole cloth. The net result of such subtleties reinforces that the mind of Tony Stark is so advanced that he and Jarvis are essentially speaking to each other in a language uniquely their own.

