

Favreau: "Now that somebody has emerged with [other RT] technology, we realize that maybe darker forces are not as far behind as Tony has assured the public they are. And, of course, Justin Hammer sees this as an opportunity to capitalize on somebody else who has the goods and has the chops, and with his resources and Ivan's talent—together they might be able to challenge Tony Stark."