SENATE CHAMBER

When Tony Stark—now refusing to develop weapons—is called before a Senate Committee that wants him to give the U.S. government his designs, he faces not only an implacable group of Senators, but also an imposing edifice.

