

Like with the Iron Man armor, the production team evaluated different levels of potential damage for War Machine to sustain.