ALTERNATE SUITS

"The mandate was to create not just one armor, but a whole slew of armors that were going to appear in the movie," Concept Artist Andy Park recalls. "The Visual Development team consisted of six artists, and we spent a good month designing as many armors and armor types as we could with no real restrictions. We were in designer heaven."

Josh Nizzi concept art.