2005, Geelani issued a statement saying that he suspected the involvement of the Special Cell in this attack on his life.

The Supreme Court subsequently upheld the High Court's verdict and declared that Geelani was acquitted of all charges.

For a comprehensive timeline of the 'Parliament Attack' see: http://in.rediff.com/news/pat2001.htm

2. For more on the 'Media Trial' of S.A.R. Geelani, see:

- Nandita Haksar, 'Tried by the Media: The S.A.R. Geelani Trial' in Sarai Reader 04: Crisis/Media (Center for the Study of Developing Societies, 2004, Delhi), pp. 158–164; also at www.sarai.net/publications/readers/04-crisis-media
- Nirmalangshu Mukherji, 'The Media and December 13: Who Attacked the Indian Parliament and Why Don't Indians Have the Full Story', Zmag, 30 September 2005: www.zmag.org/content/showarticle.cfm?SectionID=32&ItemID=6332)

3. 'Hunt for Teachers' Pet in Jubilee Hall', Hindustan Times, 17 December 2001.
4. 'Produce Jordanian on Monday, HC Tells Police', Indian Express, 9 November 2002.

'And His Life Should Become Extinct'

1. 'Advani Criticizes Delay in Afzal Execution', The Hindu, 13 November 2006.
2. Details about Maqbool Butt available at www.maqboolbutt.com and www.geocities.com/jklf-kashmir/maqboolstory.html
3. Neeta Sharma and Arun Joshi, 'Case Cracked: Jaish Behind Attack', Hindustan Times, 16 December 2001.
4. 'DU Lecturer Was Terror Plan Hub', Times of India, 17 December 2001.
5. Devesh Pandey, 'Varsity Don Guided "Fidayeen"', The Hindu, 17 December 2001: www.hinduonnet.com/thehindu/2001/12/17/stories/2001121700511100.htm
6. Sutirtho Patranobis, 'Don Lectured on Terror in Free Time', Hindustan Times, 17 December 2001.