precariously balanced between enthusiasm and depression: the “dear sweet chubby one,” Ludwig Boltzmann, will end his life by hanging himself.

He does so at Duino, near Trieste, while his wife and daughter are swimming in the Adriatic.

The same Duino where, just a few years later, Rilke will write his Elegy.

