Babington, Mr., on British plants
Baer, Von, standard of Highness
———, comparison of bee and fish
———, embryonic similarity of the Vertebrata
Baker, Sir S., on the giraffe
Balancement of growth
Baleen
Barberry, flowers of Barrande, M., on Silurian colonies
———, on the succession of species
———, on parallelism of palæozoic formations
———, on affinities of ancient species
Barriers, importance of Bates, Mr., on mimetic butterflies
Batrachians on islands
Bats, how structure acquired ———, distribution of
Bear, catching water-insects
Beauty, how acquired Bee, sting of ———, queen, killing rivals
———, Australian, extermination of Bees fertilising flowers
———, hive, not sucking the red clover
———, Ligurian
———, hive, cell-making instinct
———, variation in habits
———, parasitic
———, humble, cells of Beetles, wingless, in Madeira
———with deficient tarsi
Bentham, Mr., on British plants
———, on classification
Berkeley, Mr., on seeds in salt water
Bermuda, birds of Birds acquiring fear ———, beauty of annually cross the Atlantic