VLBI, 345
improvements in angular resolution, 328, 330, 335, 342, 345
as key to revolution in understanding the Universe, 378–79
Radio waves, as part of electromagnetic spectrum, 25f, 322–23, 379
Radio waves, cosmic:
discovery of by Jansky, 323, 324f–25f observations by Reber, 324–26, 324f–25f, 327–28 difficulty explaining, 323–24 explained as synchrotron radiation, 338–39, 338f see also Cygnus A; Radio galaxies; Radio jets; Radio telescopes Rayleigh–Taylor instability, 241–42, 242f Reference frame:
concept of, 80
inertial (freely moving or freely falling), 80, 96–98, 99f, 106, 109, 249
non-inertial, 114
Finkelstein's, for stellar implosion, 245–46, 249, 255 accelerated, near black hole, 443–46, 444b Reissner–Nordström solution af Einstein field equation, 286, 458, 473, 581N458, 582N473, 582N473–74
Relativity of space and time:
Einstein's conception of, 72–78
deduced from principle of relativity, 73, 77b explained in terms of spacetime, 88–92, 91b–92b see also Absoluteness of space and time; Length contraction; Time dilation Relativity, principle of:
formulated in absence of gravity, 73, 81
as a metaprinciple, 82
consequences of, 76–78, 82
generalized to include gravity, 98, 100, 99f, 114
Relativity theory, see General Relativity; Special Relativity Relativists contrasted with other scientists, 319–21, 341–42
Research methods and styles:
relation between experimental and theoretical, 64–65 interaction of theorists and experimenters/observers, 207–8, 315–17, 319–21, 326, 372, 376 interactions between various communities of researchers, 319–21, 326, 328, 341–43 interaction between individual researchers, 70–71, 187–89, 193b–96b, 240, 429, 499–500, 505
"small science" style vs. "big science" style, 388–91 massive, worldwide research efforts, 315–17, 319–21 solitude and introspection, 370, 499–500, 505 competition, 369–70 mathematical manipulations of laws, 61, 119–20, 563N61 attitudes toward mathematics, 469–72 different mathematical representations of same physics, 402 order-of-magnitude calculations, 193b mind flips, 403, 404f, 405, 410–11 mental blocks, 71, 82, 244, 255, 295, 335, 338–39, 417 physical intuition, 79, 96, 119–20, 269, 279, 429 role of subconscious mind, 462 curiosity, 207, 236–37
self-confidence, 207–8
role of a first quick survey, 193b, 212
